Gentlemen:

Herewith I am handing you my cheque for fifty dollars ($50.00). Please place this amount to the credit of my account (D A 76883).

Referring to your letter of May 26th (marked NB10) quoting on grey alpaca office coats, I am arranging to pay for these from my personal account as the simplest way of handling the matter. Will you, therefore, kindly deliver to my New York office address, - to which your quotation was addressed - three grey alpaca office coats, all of 42 inches bust measure, two having a sleeve length of 36th inches and one 34 inches.

Very truly yours,

Secretary.

Dear Sirs:

I am returning herewith statement for July. The item under date of the 15th "1 comp." I am unable to identify, and unless this is an article ordered directly by my wife who is in the country, I suspect that a mistake has been made in charging to my account an item purchased by someone with a D.A. number resembling my account.

Permit me also to call attention to the two items for mailage to Vermont. Am I not correct in thinking that your last statement was accompanied by the information that postage was paid on articles ordered from Vermont when the amount was $2.50 or more? That was true in both these cases and this information was confirmed by the salesman for one of the articles

Very truly yours,
